

Absolute boxes across pages

DRAFT

The blue sidebar below is absolutely positioned inside a relative section, and taller than a page. It breaks between its lines and continues on the pages after the first. The paragraphs after it are not moved by it, and none of them is lost at the page boundary.

Section introduction.
