

hyphenate-limit-last (CSS Text 4)

The filler below pushes this narrow, hyphenating column to end two lines before the page boundary — under the default none its last line still ends in a hyphen; under always that hyphen is undone and the whole word moves to the top of the next page instead.

hyphenate-limit-last: none (default)

x antidisestablish-
mentarianism x an-
tidisestablishmentarianism
x antidisestablish-

mentarianism x an-
tidisestablishmentarianism
x antidisestablish-
mentarianism x an-
tidisestablishmentarianism
x antidisestablish-
mentarianism x an-
tidisestablishmentarianism

hyphenate-limit-last: always x antidisestablish- mentarianism x an- tidisestablishmentarianism

x antidisestablish- mentarianism x an- tidisestablishmentarianism

x antidisestablish-
mentarianism x an-
tidisestablishmentarianism
x antidisestablish-
mentarianism x an-
tidisestablishmentarianism